Re: TMHA Annual Meeting and Financial Forum

‘Time is money, and the time is now!’ to remain focused, innovative, and creative within our individual markets. Most importantly, it is absolutely critical to remain informed of every available resource and tool, which can aid us as we continue to weather this economic storm... and we will weather the storm!

The Tennessee Manufactured Housing Association (TMHA) is changing the structure of its annual meeting for this year’s event at the request of members. In an effort to accommodate reduced budgets, travel and work schedules, and the general business need of our industry, Tennessee will hold a one-day annual meeting, highlighting Finance. [We will of course, do the customary business and legislative updates; annual officer and director elections; lunch; door prizes, etc.]

The event will take place at the Loveless Café Barn Special Event Hall in Nashville, Tennessee, on Wednesday June 24th. This will be a schedule packed, fast paced day; but one our members and affiliates will be glad they attended!

TMHA has scheduled a stellar line up of individuals who can cover a broad range of topics including finance programs for both consumers and financial partners, small business loans for retailers, and information relative to state and federal housing programs. Speakers include: Ted Fellman, Executive Director, Tennessee Housing Development Agency [THDA]; Laura Sinclair, Director of Single Family Programs, THDA; Don Harris, Housing Program Director, USDA Rural Development; Ralph Perrey, Sr. Business Director, Fannie Mae; and Sherrie Burns, Small Business Administration.

The following industry financial partners have committed to participate on a question and answer panel, along with some of our featured speakers. They include Matt Kerlin, 21st Mortgage Finance; Barry Noffsinger, CU Factory Built Lending; Bill Martin, Farm Credit Services; and Alan Stallard, Triad Financial Services, Inc. The invitation remains open for other financial partners to join the forum! Call TMHA at 800/989-8642.

Members that register attendance by May 15th, will not be charged an event fee!
